2003 BILL

- 1 AN ACT to amend 66.0305 (title), 66.0305 (1), 66.0305 (2), 66.0305 (3), 66.0305
2 (4) (a) 4., 66.0305 (5) and 66.0305 (6) of the statutes; relating to: authorizing
3 a county to participate in a municipal revenue sharing agreement.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, cities, villages, and towns (municipalities) may enter into agreements to share revenues from taxes and special charges with other municipalities and with federally recognized American Indian tribes or bands. No municipality may enter into an agreement with one or more municipalities unless the municipality is contiguous to at least one other municipality that enters into the agreement.

A municipal revenue sharing agreement must meet a number of conditions. It must:

1. Be for a minimum term of ten years.
2. Describe the boundaries of the area within which the revenues are to be shared in the agreement.
3. Describe the formula or other means of determining the amount of revenues to be shared under the agreement.
4. Specify the date or dates upon which revenues agreed to be shared are to be paid to the appropriate municipality.
5. Specify how the agreement may be invalidated after the expiration of the minimum ten-year term.

An agreement under current law may address any other necessary and proper matters, including any agreements with respect to services or agreements with respect to municipal boundaries. Current law also requires that at least 30 days before entering into an agreement the participating municipality must hold a public hearing on the proposed agreement (public hearing notice requirements are specified). In addition, current law provides that an advisory referendum on a proposed agreement may be called either by the governing body of the participating municipality or by the qualified electors of a participating municipality. In the latter case, a petition, signed by a number of qualified electors equal to at least ten percent of the votes cast for governor in a municipality at the last gubernatorial election must be timely filed. Time limits and notice requirements are provided for the advisory referendum.

This bill modifies current law by authorizing a county to enter into a revenue sharing agreement with another county or a municipality or federally recognized American Indian tribe or band.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

Execs: Boeing push shows need for county cooperation

State OK sought to pool funds for industrial park

By Ed Lowe

Post-Crescent staff writer

APPLETON - The top administrators of four area counties want state authority to combine financial resources toward a regional industrial park capable of accommodating a 1,000-job employer such as Boeing Co.

The top officials of Outagamie, Winnebago, Fond du Lac and Calumet counties told The Post-Crescent editorial board Monday they hope their unified bid to lure an aircraft-building facility to land adjacent to Wittman Regional Airport in Oshkosh convinces the state that counties should be able to invest collaboratively for mutual job gains.

Specifically, Calumet County Administrator John Keuler and county executives Toby Paltzer of Outagamie, Jane Van De Hey of Winnebago and Allen Buechel of Fond du Lac are seeking state permission to develop a regional industrial park via

"When they first got here I told Elmin, 'When you can speak English, I'll take you on a bike ride,'" Goessel said.

One day last summer, Goessel was able to fulfill her promise.

"He said, 'Sister Joanne, you told me when I can speak English we would have fun and go on a bike ride. Now I can speak English and now we can go,'" Goessel said. "I had tears. It was like we'd come full circle."

MENASHA - Residents living near Hart Park are in a quandary.

Their once-quiet neighborhood park has been converted into a busy regional magnet teeming with youth thanks in part to a popular skate park facility installed by the city last fall.

ternational Airport isn't quite going to do it.

Van De Hey said the leaders are realistic about the prospects of getting Boeing to Oshkosh, but believe the region, with its highly trained and productive work force, can effectively compete for the attention of major high-tech employers.

She said if the Wittman plan can place among the 10 finalists for the plant site, it will attract the interest of other expansion-minded manufacturers.

Sherrin McNamara, Outagamie County deputy executive administrator, said municipalities in the four counties would be free to invest a combined total of $188 million in industrial revenue bonding if the state would allow multiple jurisdictional funding of TRDs.

Municipalities could be offered the chance to buy shares in the effort, profiting from the district's expanded property value, she suggested.

TRDs allow municipalities to promote tax base expansion by collecting all property taxes paid on local-funded improvements over the life of the TRD, which ends when the funding entity recoups its investment costs.

State law now limits TRD investment to individual municipalities.

The county leaders agreed they no longer can afford to compete against each other in recruiting major employers.

"We pretty much agree that the important thing is jobs," Buechel said. "That will provide economic development for all of us because not only people who live in Oshkosh would work at this plant or any other plant we might get."

"We're looking at the benefit to our own local economies."

Reuter said the spirit of cooperation is necessitated by the downturn in the regional economy. "We didn't have to do this before (because) those were the good times. The four county administrators met with state Commerce Secretary Cory Neftles at Wittman on Thursday and were assured his department would provide a comprehensive proposal of incentives to Boeing by the company's June 20 deadline.

Reuter said Neftles gave no indication any other site in the state would be promoted to Boeing.

"I suspect we were the only ones who went plugging for it," Reuter said.

Stress other than Wittman will be promoted regionally, provided they match the demands of specific manufacturers, Reuter added.

PARK: Attendant believes situation will improve

From C-1

The board:

- Changed the closing time of Hart Park from 11 p.m. to 10 p.m.

- Encouraged expansion of attendant supervision at the park.

- Urged adoption of a park eviction ordinance to help discourage undesirable behavior.

"It was a good idea to put (the skate park) up, but I say it should be supervised," said neighbor Marge Quella.

"We definitely need to keep up the (police) patrols," said Carol Van Marter, a resident near the park for about 10 years.

night after he was accosted a few weeks ago by a basketball player. One night Heindel said he walked to the park in his pajamas to ask that a boom box be turned down and he was threatened. "He said, 'Fella, we'll get you,'" Heindel said.

John Weizel said he has collected a garbage can full of beer bottles and fast food wrappers he has found on his lawn.

Another neighbor, Susan Rix, said the park needed adult supervision beyond two hours daily. She suggested from 3 to 10 p.m.

Chris Murphy, who helped raise funds for the skate park and lobbied the city to build it, said the problems are caused by
